FRED FAUROT RESIGNS AS MSC GRID COACH

Fans To See Fine Performers When Murray Meets Louisville

Murray State will be meeting one of the representatives of basketball's "chambers" when the Racers clash with University of Louisville's Cardinals this Saturday night in the Murray gymnasium.

The game is already a sellout and should provide enough basketball action and thrills to keep the fans in the western Kentucky area talking for weeks. Also the game presents these athletes.

Louisville is the highest ranked team Murray has ever played against. The Cardinals are currently ranked third in the nation. One of the country's finest pivot-men will be operating at the post in Louisville's Charlie Tyra.

Against Murray, early in the season, Tyra scored 28 points and snared 32 rebounds.

Two of basketball's most brilliant guards will be competing against one another when Murray's Howie Crittenden and the Cardinals' Phil Rollins square off. Also Crittenden, already the state's most prolific scorer with 2001 points to his total, will be closing out his college career. This last game for the Cubs' Flash will have a lot of bearing on how high the state scoring record is finally set.

With all of this on the same program, it's no wonder the game is a sellout.

The main attraction for most fans will be Crittenden and Rollins. These two fine performers are native West Kentuckians and it will be Rollins' first time since high school to perform in his native habitat.

Coch Rex Alexander is claiming the title of the nation's outstanding basketball prognosticator. Following the first Murray-Louisville clash on December 6, the Murray mentor stated that Louisville would be in the nation's top 100 ball clubs.

"Louisville has great depth and usually can count on about 10 men. This is a great advantage in a close, hard fought, ball game," Murray's coach said.

Regarding the 100-94 setback his thoroughbred's team from Memphis State, Coach Alexander stated that even though Murray had lost its last three games he was not disappointed.

"I feel that our performance would win most games against any opponent. When a team plays a representative schedule, such as ours, you can still play good basketball and lose."

"As the coach of this ball club, I am extremely proud and moved by its tremendous hustle and desire," coach Alexander said.

The Murray coach outlined that Memphis State had three boys who had played in the North-South game. "This is the most boys ever assembled on one team from this group of high school stars. These boys are great individual performers. This fact is recognized and utilized by the Memphis State coaching staff."

"Anytime that Wilfong or Arnold have the ball they are dangerous. And when a team shoots 52 percent for a ball game played on a foreign court they are outstanding shooters. On most of these shots our defensive man was pressing the shooter, which made it even more phenomenal," the Murray coach explained.

Coch Alexander also stated that he felt the crucial play of the game, the one that eliminated Murray's chance of winning the game, was when Elmore Fortner drove between Joe Mikez and Dick Kinder, knocked both of them to the floor, and scored to tie the game for Memphis.

Murray's high flying freshmen, winners in 17 of 19 games will close out their regular season against the Martin branch of the University of Tennessee. The Tennesseans are one of the clubs that defeated Murray earlier in the season. The Murray yearlings avenged its' other defeat.

Confession Of Twin Frees Brother

WHEELING, W.V., Feb. 24 (AP)—Officials said today the confession of a 14-year-old twin in the blue-eyed slaying of Cub Scout David Powell showed the killing was without "rhyme or reason."

A. Gompers said the confession of Tommy Williams indicated there was "no apparent motive" for the crime.

"I have no idea why he did it," Gompers said. "There was no rhyme or reason for it."

Williams confessed slaying the nine-year-old boy to his attorney hours before he and his identical twin, Joseph, were arraigned on murder charges Thursday. Officials said Tommy made a "full confession" to authorities Thursday night.

Gompers said attorney William Callahan requested that the confession not be made public until the murder trial scheduled for April 2.

Twin Not Involved
The confession virtually exonerated Tommy's brother.

"Joe Williams will be released as soon as I clean up several facts, provided, of course, they prove to be negative," Gompers said.

He said he would not object if Callahan asked that bond be set for Joseph.

The Powell boy was killed Feb. 9 while canvassing neighbors near his Wheeling home to sell tickets to a Cub Scout benefit show. His body was found the next day beneath a porch of the Williams' home. The victim's head had been split from front to rear and his throat and chest bore stab wounds.

Gompers said to his knowledge the trial would be held as scheduled. Intermediate Court Judge David A. McKee, indicated earlier he would leave it up to a jury to decide Tommy's fate.

Death Penalty Possible
The boy could be executed if a jury finds him guilty of first degree murder. West Virginia court records show that a 14-year-old boy was tried for a slaying 20 years ago and was convicted of second degree murder.

Gompers, who said Tommy will be held without bond shield away from questions regarding the actual commission of the crime.

"That's in the statement," he said, "and I don't intend to violate an agreement with the defense attorney (Callahan)."

E. R. Schreiber, a special investigator employed by Callahan, said Tommy told Gompers he himself had no reason for the slaying. Schreiber quoted Tommy as saying he and the Powell boy "were pals."

Four Baptist Conferences Are Planned

Four Baptist regional conferences on stewardship and evangelism will be held in the western section of Kentucky Feb. 27-March 2.

They will be sponsored by the Executive Board of the General Association of Baptists in Kentucky. Dr. W. C. Boone, Louisville, general secretary and treasurer of the Baptist Executive Board, will be in charge.

Places and dates of meeting will be as follows: First Missionary

W. R. Pettigrew

Baptist Church, Benton, Feb. 27; Central Baptist Church, Central City, Feb. 28; Tompkinsville Baptist Church, Tompkinsville, March 1; and Bardonia Baptist Church, Bardonia, March 2.

Sessions will begin at 2:30 p.m. and 6:30 p.m., with supper for out-of-town guests at the church at 5:30 p.m.

Albert McClelland

Dr. Boone stated that a program has been planned for pastors, laymen and women. There will be inspirational addresses and group conferences on Woman's Missionary Union, evangelism, and retirement plans. Combined attendance of 1,000 is expected.

Featured speaker will be Dr. Albert McClelland, associate secretary, Southern Baptist Executive Committee, Nashville, Tenn., and Dr. W. R. Pettigrew, pastor, Walnut Street Baptist Church, Louisville.

Sale Volume Has Small Gain On Murray Market

By United Press
Sale volume on Kentucky's dark tobacco markets dropped again Thursday with a new season low average for western fire-cured leaf set at Mayfield.

Sale volume on dark tobacco dropped 100,000 pounds to 370,000. Averages at Murray and Hopkinsville showed small gains but Mayfield's average dropped $1.45 to $23.85 per hundred.

Mayfield and Murray will hold sales Monday, remain idle Tuesday, and close Wednesday. Eastern fire-cured sales will probably continue through next week at Hopkinsville.

Hopkinsville reported an average of $33.87 on 337,974 pounds and Murray an average of $28.77 on 184,944 pounds.

Five Die As Train Wrecks

By ROBERT RARKDOLL
And JANE DAY

United Press Staff Correspondents
SEVERN, Md., Feb. 24 (AP)—Investigators reported today that in hours of checking they still haven't determined what caused a spectacular train wreck which killed five and injured more than 90 persons near here late Thursday.

Nine cars of the Pennsylvania's crack "Embassy" passenger train lurched off the rails as it rolled along at 80 miles an hour on a straight stretch of marshy flatland about 5:30 p.m. EST.

The train was 24 minutes out of Washington en route to New York when the air brakes suddenly locked and all but five of the cars bounded out of control.

Injured May Die
The crash, which ripped a dining car open like a tin can, left some of the passengers so seriously injured they were not expected to live. Some survivors said today it was "unbelievable" there were not more dead.

The Interstate Commerce Commission, the Pennsylvania Railroad and Maryland state police began immediate investigation into the tragedy. The FBI said it sent agents to the scene as a matter of routine but has no reason to suspect sabotage.

G. B. Anderson, assistant chief of the ICC's accident section, told the United Press he had three agents working at the scene during the night but that they were "unable to form any immediate theories as to the cause."

Detailed Investigation
"It must have been either the equipment or the track since the 80-mile speed is permissible at that point," he said. "But in the darkness and confusion we were unable to come to any conclusions."

ICC agents returned to the scene today. Anderson said they will make a detailed check of the tracks and equipment but that "it may take some time to figure out the cause."

Pennsylvania Railroad officials said they, too, have no immediate clue to the cause. They said the air brakes may have locked accidentally or as a result of the crash.

Blackburn is also a candidate, although not for a political office. He is seeking the office of national commander of the American Legion, and will work on his own campaign during the interim between the primary election and the legion convention in the late summer.

After the Blackburn announcement, state Finance Commissioner James W. Martin appointed William F. Nave, Versailles, as acting state personnel director.

Nave, a former Woodford Circuit Court clerk, has served as Blackburn's assistant in the personnel division for several years.

The selection of Frankfort as state campaign headquarters for Bates was unusual but not unique. Chandler made Frankfort his campaign headquarters in 1942 when he ran for re-election to the Senate.

Members of the state selection committee include: Mrs. Edwin Richardson, Hopkinsville; Mrs. Ralph Woods, Murray; Mrs. John Kirksey, Paducah; Mrs. H. H. Coke, and Mrs. Luther Coke, Guthrie.

Blackburn said that Bates would make a statewide tour, and visit almost every county in the commonwealth during the "three months" remaining before the primary election on May 29.

Chandler Is Pledged To Beat Clements

FRANKFORT, Feb. 24 (AP)—Gov. A. B. Chandler Thursday pledged an all-out effort to unseat Sen. Earle C. Clements in the Democratic primary after State Personnel Director Charles Blackburn said he would resign to manage former Rep. Joe B. Bates in his race against Clements.

Chandler, in making his formal announcement of support for Bates by his administration, said "My administration will make an all-out fight for Joe because I believe it to be the best interest of Kentucky to unseat Earle Clements."

Clements opposed Chandler by backing Bert T. Combs for the Democratic nomination for governor last year.

Blackburn, who will resign his state job Feb. 29, said he would open state campaign headquarters for Bates here March 3. He said he felt the short primary campaign would be an advantage to Bates "because our organization is fairly well built. In most instances, we will be working with the same county organizations that were set up for the gubernatorial campaigns last year."

"There will be no assessment of state employees—we're going to set a precedent and hope it stays that way," he added.

Chandler attacked the administration of former Governor Clements and Lawrence W. Wetherby during the gubernatorial race last year for allegedly forcing campaign contributions from state workers.

Blackburn said that Bates would make a statewide tour, and visit almost every county in the commonwealth during the "three months" remaining before the primary election on May 29.

Blackburn, a 43-year old Versailles attorney, said he has known Bates for many years but only became personally acquainted with the former congressman during the gubernatorial campaign last year.

Blackburn is also a candidate, although not for a political office. He is seeking the office of national commander of the American Legion, and will work on his own campaign during the interim between the primary election and the legion convention in the late summer.

British Sub Is Reported Lost

LONDON, Feb. 24 (AP)—A big British submarine with "approximately 65" men on board dived into the frigid Arctic waters off Greenland Wednesday and has not been heard from since, the Admiralty reported today.

BULLETIN
LONDON (AP)—The British submarine Acheron, reported missing, has been contacted by radio and an intensive air search for it has been called off, the British Air Ministry reported today.

The entire facilities of the Anglo-American air-sea rescue service was thrown into action. But, instead of being sunk, the Acheron had been unable to report because of a global radio blackout due to an unusual spate of sunspots.

A "maximum effort" search was launched in the teeth of an Arctic gale this morning after the 1,120-ton submarine Acheron failed to report by radio on schedule.

The Admiralty cautioned that poor radio conditions caused by a massive cosmic ray bombardment from the sun could have caused a radio blackout. But an intensive search was launched immediately.

Efforts to contact the submarine have failed, the Admiralty reported at 2 p.m. (9 a.m. EST) today.

An urgent appeal was radioed to all shipping in the area to keep a sharp lookout for survivors, wreckage, buoys, or other debris, the Admiralty said.

Every available search and rescue craft, including American air-sea rescue units, was launched into the bitter northern weather.

All available ships in the Royal Navy's Scotland Command were rushed to the area, which is some 270 miles northwest of Reykjavik, Iceland, where the submarine last was reported.

The Admiralty said the depth of the north Atlantic at that spot is 145 fathoms—870 feet.

It reported a "moderate gale" blowing, with rain and fog in spots. Visibility was five to eight miles, the Admiralty said.

The Acheron was built in 1948. It is one of a long range class capable of crossing the Atlantic under water with the use of its snorkel breathing apparatus.

It carries a four-inch gun, seven machine guns and eight 1-inch torpedo tubes. It belongs to the 3rd Submarine Squadron and is based at Rosyth.

Jim Cullivan Named As His Replacement; Ferguson Hired

MURRAY, Feb. 24 (AP)—Fred Faurot, whose split-T strategy gave Murray State three championship football teams, has resigned effective April 1, as head football coach.

Coch Faurot expressed regret at leaving Murray State, saying that both he and his wife had enjoyed living in Murray.

Dr. Woods and Athletic Director Roy Stewart both expressed regret on learning of Coach Faurot's decision.

They also expressed confidence in both Cullivan and Ferguson as coaches.

Cullivan is also a Murray graduate and was a squad member of Faurot's on the 1949 Ohio Valley Conference championship squad that went to the Tangerine Bowl. Bill Ferguson, another Murray graduate, presently coaching at Murphysboro, Ill., has been added to Murray's coaching staff.

Cullivan has coached at Covington, Tenn., and Fulton, Ferguson was football coach at Lafayette High School, Lexington, before going to Illinois.

Cullivan has been line coach at Murray State for the past three years. He aided Faurot while working on his Masters Degree at Murray State.

In the 1954-55 season Ferguson worked as an assistant to Faurot while also winning his Masters Degree. He has been coaching at Murphysboro, Illinois for the past year. Ferguson is married to the former Miss Hazel Hood, daughter of the late Hall Hood and Mrs. Hood.

Survivor Tells Terror Of "Hole"

KOSTI, Sudan, Feb. 24 (AP)—A survivor of the "black hole" of Kosti where 190 Sudanese tenant farmers suffocated said today their agonized cries for air and water went unheeded by police guards.

The Sudanese told a shocking story of the horrible hours in a prison ward where prisoners were packed so tightly those who died remained in an upright position.

The survivor said that he and the other tenant farmers were arrested Tuesday morning and taken by truck to the town of Juba. He said they were held without food and water until late afternoon.

He said they were hustled aboard huge trucks for transportation to Kosti, the huge cotton-growing center in the White Nile Province.

"They allowed us to drink from the canal on the way," the Sudanese said. "We reached Kosti (after some five hours) completely exhausted."

He said all 281 prisoners were crammed into a 65 by 20 room. Semi-official reports said there was a total of 334 prisoners.

"We couldn't sit—we had to stand all the time," he said.

"After two hours, we felt the strong heat," he continued. "We couldn't breathe. The doors, two small glass windows near the ceiling and the wooden shutters were all closed."

"We shouted, cried and banged on the doors. We begged police for water and told them we were suffocating but without avail."

When the iron doors were opened Wednesday morning 137 men were dead, he said. Three others died in the hospital.

In Khartoum, student rioting flared and newspapers printed bitter editorials blaming the government for the "black hole" deaths and the slaughter of another 150 tenant farmers in a brawl with police.

The riots stemmed from the refusal of the cotton farmers to sell their crops to the market of the Gods farm combine. Company officials charged the riots were Communist-inspired.

RED CARS OUT
CHICAGO (AP)—Chicago's old red street cars, once a famous sight in the windy city, have almost reached the end of the line.

Only three remained after six were scrapped and burned Thursday. The red cars have been out of service except for rush hour traffic since May 30, 1954.

The GOLDEN WITCH
By ZOLA ROSS

SYNOPSIS
In 1897, Seattle was a bustling, booming gateway to the Klondike gold rush. Tim O'Brien, with the help of his good friend Michael Dink, a hard-nosed, young lawyer, persuades Meg Beaumont, a girl who has a small share in the gold fields of the Klondike, to go to Alaska in search of her husband, Kemp Beaumont. Meg leaves Seattle for the gold fields of the Klondike, but Michael Dink, who has placed to stay at Matilda Cox's boarding house, where he lives, Tim O'Brien Meg should return to her father in Illinois, but Meg says no. Tim O'Brien hasn't a job or money. Michael asks Meg to find her a job, and he suggests schoolteaching. But Meg says no.
Meanwhile, at the boarding house, Meg meets Jenny Felt, who has a small shop that isn't doing well because she isn't a good saleswoman. Meg can design and sell hats so Michael offers the partnership is formed. Jason Ten Eyck, a prosperous doctor, offers to let them display hats once a week in his store. Jason also offers to let Meg and Jenny work in his store.
Even though they have a common bond after Meg's husband, Tim O'Brien husband has deserted her, too. This time there more reason than ever to succeed.

CHAPTER SEVEN THREE YEARS ago Meg had met and married Johnny's father.
She was twenty, already rebelling against her father and Stratton College, when she met Kemp at a college dance. Kemp Beaumont's orchestra, usually seen at noisy own affairs had been rushed in as a substitution when the regular musicians proved unavailable. Meg saw Kemp on the raised platform.
He had looked at her with seeking eyes, and a startled awareness roughed her like a summer wind.
She was not surprised when he managed to dance with her.
Kemp's voice was soft, slurred by forgotten ancestors who had left the South to settle in the sleepy little Illinois town. "I thought witches were dark. But you're a golden witch."
Lying in the darkness now, Meg shivered. Those words had seduced her as much as Kemp's eyes and lips. They were with her a month later when he married him in a shabby parsonage.
"Must we tell your father tonight?" Kemp's mouth was ardent upon her own.
"Yes." Wanting to yield, she shouldn't.
Together they went to the green-and-white president's "mansion" to find Randall Stratton, frigidly polite, at dinner. "I was not aware you had invited a guest, Margaret."
"He's not a guest. Father. He's my husband, Kemp Beaumont."
Her father's rage had been instantly controlled, but he had not deceived her. "You—my daughter —married to a— a fiddle-playing foolster!"
"Keep your tongue from Kemp and his family!" She watched him write at the knobby ends at noisy relatives by marriage ran a lively stable and a rooming house.

Methodists Plan Youth Conferences

LOUISVILLE—A conference of church-related vocations for youth of the Methodist Memphis Conference will be held March 2-4 at Lambuth College, Jackson, Tenn.

Purpose of the meeting is to inform the youth of the types and qualifications of workers needed by the church to provide vocational counseling.

The Rev. H. J. Burkett, Dyersburg, superintendent of the Methodist Dyersburg District, will be the inspirational speaker. He is past chairman of the Memphis Conference Commission on Christian Vocations, which is sponsoring the meeting.

There will be seminars on the ministry, Christian education, missions, nursing, lay work, music, and church vocations.

Seminar leaders will be the Rev. Dr. Van B. Dunn, pastor of Forest Heights Methodist Church, Jackson; the Rev. Dr. Henry Johnson, dean, Scarritt College, Nashville; the Rev. George F. McKelvey, Paducah, pastor of Reidland Methodist Church and a former missionary; the Rev. A. N. Bingham, pastor of Raleigh, Tenn., Methodist Church, the Rev. H. E. Russell, pastor of First Methodist Church, Fulton, Ky., and chairman of the conference commission on Christian vocations; The Rev. J. D. Olhausen, pastor of Grimes Memorial Methodist Church, Memphis, will be dean of the conference. He is vice-chair-

SOCIETY

Miss Vivian Hale Opens Home For YW Class Social

The Young Women's Sunday School Class of the First Baptist Church held its monthly social in the home of Miss Vivian Hale on West Main Street on Monday, February 20, at seven-thirty o'clock in the evening.

Mrs. Harry Hampsher was in charge of the program and presented a group of students from the Baptist Student Union.

The very inspirational devotion on the theme, "Home," was ably given by Miss Betty Hughes. Special numbers were sung by the trio composed of Misses Millicent King, Joyce Tummins, and Carol Houston who were accompanied by Miss Shirley Joyce Chiles.

Mrs. Marvin Harris, first vice-president, presided at the meeting. The opening and closing prayers were led by Mrs. Allen McCoy and Mrs. James Brown respectively.

Refreshments of cherry tarts and coffee were served by the hostesses who were Miss Hale, Mrs. Robert W. Huie, Mrs. Toy Lenn, and Mrs. Euel F. Lockhart.

Members present were Mesdames A. G. Outland, Alvis Jones, Harold Hopper, Alton Rodgers Jr., Frances Ramsey, Euel F. Lockhart, Velma Wisheart, Sadie Carson, Charles Hale, J. M. Converse, Allen McCoy,

Waldrop Home Scene Of Feb. Meet Of UDC Chapter

Mrs. Westley Waldrop opened her home on Miller Avenue for the meeting of the J. N. Williams chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy held on Wednesday, February 15, at two-thirty o'clock in the afternoon.

The program for the afternoon was given by Mrs. W. P. Roberts who discussed the history of the national United Daughters of the Confederacy. She told of the aims of the organization and the studies of the group.

Mrs. Fred Gingles, president, presided at the meeting. During the social hour refreshments in the George Washington day theme were served by the hostess.

The March meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Thomas Banks, Sr., Coldwater Road. Mrs. G. B. Scott will give a book review.

H. W. Wilson, Wayne Flora, James Brown, Allen Russell, Tip Miller, J. B. Burkeen, Glindel Reaves, Ray Brownfield, Bethel Richardson, Marvin Harris, W. L. Polly, Toy Lenn, Robert W. Huie, and Miss Vivian Hale. Guests were Mrs. Leon Hale, Mrs. Carrie Beale, Mrs. Roy Devine, and the girls on program.

Circle IV Of WSCS Meets At Church Tuesday Afternoon

Circle IV of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the First Methodist Church met in the social hall of the church on Tuesday, February 21, at two-thirty o'clock in the afternoon.

Mrs. Hubert Jackson, chairman, opened the meeting with the Lord's Prayer. The members answered the roll call with a name of a woman of the Bible.

"Status Of Women" was the subject of the program presented with Mrs. Burnett Waterfield in charge. Others taking part were Mrs. May Cole, Mrs. Hubert Jackson, Mrs. Alice Jones, and Mrs. J. R. Gattin.

The devotion on "Women of the Bible" was given by Mrs. George Gattin. "What A Friend We Have In Jesus" and "Wonderful Words of Life" were the songs sung by the group. The closing prayer was led by Mrs. Robye Fair.

Mrs. W. D. Sykes and Mrs. Hubert Jackson, hostesses, served refreshments to the sixteen members present.

The first Naval Officer's Training School, was established in Boston Massachusetts, in December 1813. It was under the guidance of William Bainbridge, a great naval leader whose courage had been demonstrated in the war with Tripoli.
